

A well-known fiber optic cable manufacturer in Sierra Leone

AI Overview

Leonecom and Ultra One are the leading fiber optic infrastructure providers in Sierra Leone, offering nationwide connectivity and advanced broadband solutions. Leonecom is a neutral fiber optic operator partnering with the Government of Sierra Leone to manage the national fiber optic backbone and related infrastructure. The company provides high-speed data connectivity across the country, enabling service providers and consumers to access broadband services. Leonecom offers capacity transportation services and connectivity through a terrestrial fiber optic network, designed to allow operators to scale their backbone solutions and utilize upgradable bandwidth options as needed. Their network connects operators to end users nationwide, including underserved areas. Ultra One was formed from the merger of ZoodLabs and Metro Cable, combining expertise in smart broadband infrastructure and robust fiber-optic backbones. The company provides submarine cable access, nationwide fiber networks, and edge-ready 5G Open-RAN infrastructure, supporting mobile operators, ISPs, and enterprises. Ultra One focuses on vendor-neutral, flexible connectivity solutions, enabling cost-effective deployment and interoperability. Their network spans major cities, institutions, and enterprise zones, and they are actively expanding high-speed internet access across Sierra Leone. Regulatory and Strategic Context The Ministry of Communication, Technology and Innovation (MoCTI) oversees ICT policy and regulation in Sierra Leone, aiming to transform the country into a digital economy. The National Communications Authority (NatCA) regulates telecommunications, grants licenses, and ensures fair competition among service providers, including fiber optic operators. These frameworks support the development and expansion of fiber...
