

Croatian Fiber Optic Cable Splicing Company

AI Overview

Infracom Group d.o.o., Elektro Imber Ltd, and Telecron d.o.o. are key Croatian companies specializing in fiber optic splicing and network deployment. Infracom Group d.o.o. Based in Zagreb, Infracom Group d.o.o. offers professional fiber optic splicing services. They handle daily splicing tasks, maintain cabling systems, and ensure structured cabling installations. Their team works with electricity and hand tools to perform precise fiber connections, making them a reliable choice for on-site fiber optic projects in Croatia. Elektro Imber Ltd Elektro Imber Ltd provides comprehensive fiber network deployment solutions across Croatia. Their services include planning, design, and full implementation of fiber optic networks. They specialize in FTTH deployments, offering passive fiber elements such as preconnectorized drop cables, patchcords, splitters, splice closures, and optical cross-connect boxes. They also supply PLC splitters and custom patchcords designed for low bending radius installations, supporting high-speed data and 5G technology. Telecron d.o.o. Telecron, founded in 1991 in Zagreb, is a distributor and service provider for fiber optic equipment and splicing tools. They offer fusion splicers, fiber optic blowing machines, and a wide range of installation and testing tools. Telecron supports both telecom and IT markets, providing solutions for cable laying, fiber testing, and network verification, making them a key partner for fiber optic infrastructure projects. Additional Notes Other companies in Croatia, such as Dark Fiber and Bulb Technologies, focus on fiber network construction, splicing, and testing, particularly for backbone and wholesale connectivity solutions. These companies emphasize compliance with EU telecommunications standards and provide turnkey solutions for operators and service providers. These companies col...
