

Fiber Optic Cable Hot Stripping Pliers and Related Equipment Manufacturers

AI Overview

Leading manufacturers of fiber optic hot stripping pliers include 3SAE Technologies, LASER COMPONENTS, Jonard Tools, and AFL, offering thermal and mechanical fiber strippers for precise coating removal. Key Manufacturers and Their Offerings

3SAE Technologies specializes in high-performance fiber optic strippers, including thermal and mechanical models. They offer diameter-adjustable thermal strippers, non-contact high-strength strippers, and patented technologies like Burst™ Technology and Ring of Fire®, designed for end stripping and mid-span window stripping of coatings such as acrylate, PVC, polyimide, carbon, and gold. Their tools are chemical-free and engineered for precision and reliability.

LASER COMPONENTS Germany provides a wide range of mechanical and thermal fiber strippers, including automatic plasma-assisted stripping machines. Their thermal strippers feature adjustable temperature and time settings, suitable for single fibers and fiber ribbons, and can handle high-strength splices without affecting fiber integrity. They offer solutions from pocket-sized tools to fully automated laboratory and production units.

Jonard Tools manufactures a variety of fiber optic stripping tools, including the JIC-1022 for 2-3 mm fiber jackets and the CST-4000 for large cables (19-40 mm diameter). Their tools feature spring-loaded blades, ergonomic designs, and multi-action cutting capabilities, allowing longitudinal, spiral, and circular cuts for end and mid-span stripping.

AFL offers the Precision Strip Tool, a battery-powered, handheld thermal stripper with an integral heating element. It requires minimal force, ensuring damage-free fiber stripping and high-quality splices. Its ergonomic, portable design makes it ideal for field applications.
