

Fiber Optic Communication Fusion Splicer Manufacturer

AI Overview

Leading manufacturers of fiber optic fusion splicers include Fujikura, Corning, JILONG, DIAMOND, Tumtec, and Shinho, offering a range of high-performance splicing solutions for telecommunications and specialized applications. Key Manufacturers and Their Offerings

Fujikura Ltd. is a global leader in fusion splicing technology, providing core alignment and cladding alignment splicers suitable for field, factory, and R&D applications. Their products include benchtop, field, and mass fusion splicers, supporting multi-core, polarization-maintaining, and specialty fibers. Fujikura splicers feature Bluetooth connectivity, automatic mechanisms, and high reliability even in challenging environments, with training and technical support available worldwide.

Corning Cable Systems offers the OptiSplice One Handheld Fusion Splicer, designed for enterprise, telco, CATV, and FTTx networks. It features dual cameras for splice loss estimation, an intuitive interface, and durability for field use.

JILONG provides a range of fiber optic fusion splicers emphasizing high-quality communication solutions, suitable for both installation and maintenance projects.

DIAMOND SA manufactures fusion splicers with patented Active Core Alignment technology, known for extremely low insertion loss and precision, often used in critical applications including space missions.

Tumtec specializes in optoelectronic communication equipment, offering high-performance fusion splicers for various industries, with over 17 years of experience in fiber optic solutions.

Shinho is a Chinese manufacturer producing fusion splicers for indoor and outdoor FTTx projects, featuring robust industrial design, large battery capacity, and stable performance in extreme conditions. They also provide fiber cleavers, OTDRs, and related fiber testing equipment.
