

Fiber optic connector cassette resale price

AI Overview

Resale prices for fiber optic connector cassettes typically range from $50 to $250 per unit, depending on type, fiber count, and condition. Price Range Overview The resale value of fiber optic cassettes varies based on several factors:

Type of cassette: MPO/MTP cassettes generally command higher resale prices than standard LC or SC cassettes due to their high-density and pre-terminated design for data centers and enterprise networks.

Fiber count: 12-fiber cassettes are usually less expensive than 24-fiber or higher-density cassettes. High-density cassettes supporting 144 fibers per 1U panel can increase resale value.

Condition: Factory-tested, pre-terminated, and unused cassettes retain higher resale value. Used or field-terminated cassettes may sell for 30–60% of the original price depending on wear and testing status.

Brand and compatibility: Premium brands like CommScope, Belden, and FS often maintain higher resale prices due to reliability and multi-vendor compliance.

Connector type: Cassettes with LC, SC, ST, or MPO adapters may vary in price. MPO/MTP cassettes designed for 100G/400G migration readiness are typically at the higher end of the resale spectrum.

Typical Resale Price Estimates

- 12-fiber LC/SC cassette: $50–$100
- 24-fiber LC/SC cassette: $100–$150
- 12/24-fiber MPO/MTP cassette: $120–$200
- High-density modular cassettes (stacked 1U panels, 144 fibers): $200–$250

These prices are approximate and can fluctuate based on market demand, condition, and vendor availability. For accurate resale pricing, checking online marketplaces, surplus electronics distributors, or contacting vendors like FS, Graybar, or CommScope for used equipment quotes is recommended.

Additional Considerations

Testing and certification: Cassettes that have been tested for insertion loss (IL) and return loss (RL) may fetch higher resale prices.
