AI Overview

XQJ series cable trays provide durable, versatile, and corrosion-resistant support for power, control, and communication cables in diverse industrial and commercial applications. Key Functions and Features

Cable Support and Organization: XQJ series trays are designed to securely hold power cables, control cables, and lighting wiring, keeping them organized and preventing tangling or damage during installation and operation. They optimize space usage and improve cable management efficiency.

Corrosion and Environmental Protection: Made from high-quality cold- and hot-dip steel, XQJ trays feature galvanizing, plastic spraying, or powder coating, providing excellent resistance to corrosion, dust, and environmental hazards. This ensures long-term durability in both indoor and outdoor settings, including aggressive industrial environments.

Load-Bearing and Mechanical Strength: The trays are engineered for high strength and impact resistance, capable of supporting heavy cable loads. Ladder-type trays offer ventilation for heat dissipation, while trough and tray types provide dust-proof and interference-resistant protection.

Flexible Installation: XQJ trays can be installed in multiple configurations—overhead, under floor slabs, along walls, in tunnels, or on open-air columns. They support horizontal, vertical, angled, T-shaped, and cross-shaped layouts, with adjustable width, height, and diameter to accommodate various project requirements.

Thermal and Electrical Safety: The design promotes airflow and cooling, reducing the risk of overheating and maintaining optimal cable performance. The trays also facilitate safe separation of power and control cables, minimizing electrical interference.
