

How much does outdoor fiber optic cable splicing cost per meter

AI Overview

Outdoor fiber optic splicing typically costs between $50 and $150 per fusion splice, with total project costs varying based on cable type, fiber count, and site conditions.

Per-Splice Pricing For most commercial outdoor projects, fusion splicing costs range from $50 to $150 per splice point, which generally includes labor and OTDR verification of each joint but excludes materials like closures, trays, or project management fees . Ribbon fiber or high-count cables may require specialized equipment, potentially increasing the per-splice cost.

Factors Affecting Cost

Fiber Count: Higher fiber counts reduce the per-splice rate due to volume pricing. For example, a 24-fiber project may cost $100 per splice, while a 288-fiber project could drop to $55 per splice .

Site Conditions: Aerial splicing in open areas is cheaper than underground vault work, which may require traffic control, confined space entry, and additional crew members .

Cable Type: Outdoor armored or direct-burial cables are more expensive than standard single-mode fiber, and installation complexity (trenching, conduit, or aerial deployment) adds to labor costs .

Regional Labor Rates: Labor costs vary by location, with urban areas typically higher due to permits, traffic, and congestion, while rural areas may have lower labor but higher logistics costs .

Project-Level Estimates

Basic Outdoor Run: 2,000 ft with conduit and 4 terminations may cost $4,940-$6,120, including cable, labor, permits, and accessories .

Premium Outdoor Installation: 5,000 ft armored cable with multiple splices and professional testing can range $11,000-$14,500 .

Additional Costs

Splice Enclosures: IP68-rated outdoor splice boxes for 24-core cables cost around $50-$150 each, depending on layers and features .

Maintenance: Expect $50-$200 annually for basic testing and materials, with larger inspections at major refresh cycles .
