

Mauritius Fiber Optic Cable Junction Box Supplier

AI Overview

Photonics Ltd, Electrum, and Aksh OptiFibre (Mauritius) Limited are key manufacturers of fiber optic solutions, including junction boxes, in Mauritius. Photonics Ltd is a well-established manufacturer located in Triolet, Mauritius, specializing in passive FTTH products and last-mile fiber optic solutions for telecom, data, and security applications. Their product range includes pre-terminated aerial drop cables, fiber optic enclosures, and accessories used in the last mile of network deployment. Photonics also provides technical consultancy for fiber optic procurement, design, and installation, serving clients such as Mauritius Telecom, Huawei, and Emtel. Their facilities use automated equipment and advanced polishing techniques to ensure high-quality products. Electrum is another leading fiber optic manufacturer in Mauritius, producing fiber optic cables, drop cables, connectors, patch cords, closures, and network components. They supply both domestic telecom operators and international markets, including Sub-Saharan Africa and South America. Electrum's solutions are designed for FTTH networks, data centers, enterprise networks, and telecom backbones, supporting high-speed data, 5G, and next-generation network expansion. They also provide project supervision and turnkey infrastructure services, including civil works and fiber implementation. Aksh OptiFibre (Mauritius) Limited subsidiary, ATML, manufactures optical fiber cables locally and markets them both domestically and globally. The company leverages the group's expertise in fiber optic technology and provides consultancy and engineering support for digital and telecommunications projects. Their Mauritius facility is part of a broader network of Aksh OptiFibre manufacturing units, ensuring access to high-quality fiber products a...
